The votes cast in the general election Tuesday, November 2, were canvassed and approved at the regular meeting of the Navarro county commissioners' court Monday at 10 o'clock. The regular monthly claims were allowed except as noted on the claim docket.

The following figures were shown by the returns as adopted by the commissioners in the more important races and those county offices where there was a contest.

For Congressman, Luther A. Johnson, Democrat 2,667. John A. Newsom, Republican, 108.

For Governor—Dan Moody, Democrat, 2,608. H. H. Haines, Republican, 158.

In precinct 7, W. S. Bell, Democratic nominee, received 85 votes while Harmon Chandler received 74 votes. This was the closest contest that a Democratic nominee was given in the county.

In precinct 7, R. P. Beene, Democratic nominee for Justice of the Peace received 104 votes while J. K. Hawthorne received 54.

In precinct 4 at Dawson, George B. Jones, Democratic nominee, was given a vote of 240 while Dan Gardner received 201.

In Navarro county, two amendments carried and two were defeated.

For the amendment in Sections 33 and 40, Article 16, relative to members of the National Guard, etc., holding civil office, there were 763 votes while there were 814 votes against the amendment.

The amendment to Article 7, Section 3, relative to the changing of special districts without the legislature passing a bill, there were 773 votes for the measure and 738 against the measure.

In Section 58, Article 16, for the abolishing of the prison board and changing the prison system control, there were 920 votes for the amendment and 654 votes against it.

In the amendment for the payment of school tax by counties who own lands in school districts, there were 1041 votes for the amendment and 608 against the amendment.

P. R. Smith, Corsicana R. 6, was allowed $127.55 to defray the funeral expenses of his wife who, he said, had received injuries causing her death when a team became frightened at a bridge, turning over the vehicle on the bridge.

Road to Connect Enhouse and Rice

A petition signed by citizens of Rice and Enhouse was presented praying for the opening up of about a mile of road between those two towns. It was pointed out that there are roads leading from each town and that this one mile of road asked for will connect the present two roads. The petition was granted.

Another petition from El Dorado was presented asking for a road which was granted.

The court canvassed the returns from an election in school district No. 111, raising the school tax rate from fifty cents to seventy cents per $100 valuation of property. The returns showed that there were 57 votes cast for the increase and 10 against the increase. The election was ordered carried.

The petition of John W. Stewart, sheriff, for the employment of Joe H. Parker as deputy sheriff was granted.

Cotton Prices Hold Up Well.

By Associated Press.
New York, Nov. 8.—In the face of the latest government cotton crop estimate, increasing the indicated production to the unprecedented total of nearly 18,000,000 bales, cotton prices held up remarkably steady in the New York market today.

Before publication of the figures the staple was selling about $1 a bale higher than at the end of the last week. Southern selling, which followed the report, cancelled a part of these gains, but it was fairly well absorbed by large buying orders from the trade which had been placed in anticipation of another sharp break. At noon prices ranged from 12.27 for December to 12.62 for March, representing net gains of 5 to 8 points.

New Orleans, Nov. 8.—The first effect of the government report of the cotton market here was almost negligible. Prices went off only 10 to 12 points on active near months and showed little or no change on distant position. First trades after the report were slightly down from the pre-bureau figures and 5 to 10 points above Saturday's close.

Col. A. E. Humphreys Is Reported Better

Slight improvement is reported in the condition of Col. A. E. Humphreys, president of the Humphreys Oil Company, who Sunday was stricken ill in his suite at the Rice Hotel.

His wife and sons, A. E. Jr., and L. D. Humphreys and their families arrived from Denver, Colo., and remained at his bedside at the Baptist Hospital.—Houston Chronicle.

BALE OF COTTON IS EXCHANGED FOR ONE YEAR'S SUBSCRIPTION TO SEMI-WEEKLY MORNING LIGHT

ONE BALE OFF THE MARKET—E. D. Ingram, Blooming Grove, Texas, Rural Route No. 2, called at the office of the Sun-Light Publishing Company recently and exchanged a bale of cotton for one year's subscription to the Corsicana Semi-Weekly Morning Light. The cotton weighed six pounds and was baled by the Phillips and Cole gin at Blooming Grove. The miniature bale was perfect in every respect and has attracted much attention and comment at the Sun Office where it is now on exhibition. Mr. Ingram took advantage of the offer of the Sun-Light Publishing Company to give one year's subscription to the Semi-Weekly Morning Light in exchange for every four pounds of good ginned cotton, properly sacked, brought to the Light Office in Corsicana. This is paying the farmer at the rate of twenty-five cents a pound for his cotton as the subscription to the Light is $1.00 a year in advance. The Light has received several hundred pounds of cotton in exchange for subscriptions and expects to receive much more.

MAYOR OF SMALL TOWN NEAR HERRIN SLAIN BY GUNMEN

FRIEND WHO RUSHES TO MAYOR'S AID WAS ALSO KILLED

By Associated Press.
Herrin, Ill., Nov. 8.—Strife-torn Williamson county today added two more victims to its long list of violent deaths and hoped that inquiry of a coroner's jury would reveal the identity of three anonymous loads of gunmen who Saturday night dealt death with machine gun and rifle bullets to Mayor Jeff Stone of Coln, and a pugilist friend John Milroy.

Coln is a small town three miles west of here.

Milroy was killed when he rushed to the assistance of Stone, lying mortally wounded in one of Coln's main streets after he had been hit by Police Chief John Keith into a death trap. Keith was shot in the hand as he ran from the scene after the gunmen are reported to have shouted, "we don't want you."

Rumors linked Charles Birger and his faction with the deaths. Reports were that Birger had sworn revenge against Stone for not supporting the Republican ticket in last Tuesday's election.

Stone and Keith Saturday night were in a restaurant in Coln when a call came to go to the roadhouse of Pete Salmo, where it was reported there was trouble.

Soon after the arrival there, the gunmen, who had been waiting on a side road, sped by and leveled their guns at the mayor. He fell in the street and Milroy was killed when he ran from a neighboring pool room to the assistance of his friend. Keith disappeared after he was shot, but reappeared sometime later in Cartersville, three miles away.

Stone had passed through a stormy career in Southern Illinois politics. Last summer he was cleared of a charge of murdering former Police Chief John Freeman, who had disagreed with the mayor over administration of village affairs. Testimony was presented that Stone had shot Freeman in self defense.

By Associated Press.

ELEVEN CONVICTS SHOT THEIR WAY TO FREEDOM IN OHIO

TWO GUARDS AND WARDEN'S SECRETARY AND ONE PRISONER WOUNDED

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 8.—All of the eleven Ohio penitentiary convicts who shot their way to freedom today were reported captured near Lilly Chapel, twelve miles west of here.

A telephone message to Warden P. E. Thomas of the penitentiary said Columbus police were on their way back with them.

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 8.—Eleven Ohio penitentiary convicts all members of the "Bad Squad," including four sentenced for life, rushed through the main gate of the institution to freedom today while shots splattered in every direction.

The notorious "Jiggs" Loebner of Cleveland, was among them. Two guards were injured and Warden Preston E. Thomas' secretary was hit.

Thirteen prisoners tried to get away. One was shot by Warden Thomas as he fled past the door of his office.

The other was captured as he fled in his flight.

The thirteen were known as the "Hard Boiled Squad." They were exercising in the penitentiary yard as Guard Callahan passed them with a crowd of visitors. They followed him. As he neared the gate they hit him over the head with the leg of a chair, used the same instrument on Guards John Cochran and George Bennett, whipped out revolvers and milled through, shooting as they went.

Six of them commandeered an automobile and headed in the direction of Springfield, Ohio.

Columbus police reserves have joined in the chase.

The other five are believed to be in hiding near the railroad tracks, adjoining the penitentiary. Officials have no knowledge as to how the arms were obtained.

MANY LOSE LIVES IN TYPHOON, FLOOD AND TIDAL WAVE

SECTION OF PHILIPPINE ISLANDS IS VISITED BY CATASTROPHE

By Associated Press.

Manila, Nov. 8.—The estimated number of dead in Southern Luzon as the result of Saturday's typhoon tidal wave and floods reached 300 today.

Incomplete reports indicate the property damage will run into millions of dollars. Telegraph wires still are down and the full extent of destruction and death are not yet known.

Latest reports show the disaster was felt in the provinces of Batangas, Cavite, Laguna and Tayabas. Batangas was hardest hit, with approximately 200 dead.

By Associated Press.

Manila, Nov. 8.—All available Red Cross forces, supplemented by local civil and army aid were rushed into Southern Luzon today as a result of loss of life and property damage from a typhoon, flood and tidal wave which struck there early Saturday.

It is probable that the loss of life will number upwards of 200 and some reports indicate it may double that figure.

Conditions make it impossible to learn the full extent of the disaster; enough has been learned to indicate it was one of the worst in recent years.

The typhoon coming from the direction of the Island of Samar, cut a narrow swath of destruction along its course and mushroomed out in the Southern provinces of Luzon island.

Here flooding rivers and a tidal wave added to the disaster and in the lowlands of Batangas and Bataan alone there are 170 dead. Reports of damage to property come from as far North as Los Baños, an Laguna de Bay, which is less than fifty miles south of Manila. Manila itself was outside the storm area but wire communication was severed which prevented news of the disaster from becoming known here until yesterday.

MILITANT BAPTIST PREACHER FACING BIG DAMAGE SUIT

SON OF D. E. CHIPPS SUES FOR DEATH OF HIS FATHER LAST JULY

By Associated Press.

Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 8.—Rev. Dr. J. Frank Norris, fundamentalist Baptist pastor, was sued in District court here today for $150,000 damages by Dougherty Elliott Chipps, son of D. E. Chipps, whom the preacher shot and killed here last July and for whose death he is to be tried for murder at Austin in January on a charge of venue.

In his petition, the boy, 14, says his father's life was taken without just cause, without legal excuse and without regard to the rights of the petitioner. Mrs. May Chipps, divorced wife of the slain man, joins the boy in the suit as next friend.

Judgment for $50,000 actual and $100,000 exemplary damages is asked.

The petition represents the elder Chipps as having been in good health at the time of his death, earning $1,000 a month in the wholesale lumber business, and having a life expectancy of 20 years. Chipps was 49 years old.

The boy bases his pleadings on the claim that he has been deprived of maintenance, education and support by his father's death.

FIRST FROST WAS SEEN FRIDAY HERE; TEMPERATURE DROPS

The first heavy frost of the season formed here Thursday night. There was also a drop of about 20 degrees in temperature.

Cotton leaves will be killed as will other vegetation of like nature.

EN OPPORTUNITY FOR
THE SOUTH.Sizing up the cotton situation in the South and calling the "crisis a golden opportunity." The Manufacturers Record Daily Bulletin carries the following front page editorial:From many points in the South come reports of action designed to relieve the cotton crisis. A merchant in Monroe, La., advertises that he will accept cotton at 15 cents per pound in payment for merchandise, and urges all other merchants to do likewise. A banker in Fort Smith covers whole pages in the daily papers with vigorous advertisements urging farmers to borrow on their cotton at 5-1-2 per cent and hold indefinitely for a better price. And from some of the cotton states come reports that groups of bankers are working out plans for retiring from the market for a better price 25 per cent of the crop raised within their 10 individual states.All of this is aimed in the right direction. It is constructive; it is excellent. But none of it goes far enough. None of it shows recognition of the South's unequalled opportunity to proclaim to the nation and to the world its independence and financial self-sufficiency. For 60 years the South has been regarded, and has regarded itself, as the poor cousin of the nation. The fact that the per capita wealth of the South is below that of other parts of the country is not discredit, but the feeling that the South is more or less dependent upon any other section for financial aid is unworthy, humiliating and degrading. The South cannot suddenly enough rid itself and the rest of the nation of the last vestige of that false idea. On the contrary, let the South be thought of as the treasure house of the nation,
as that section of the country which more than all others is independent of outside aid. Above all, let it first realize, and then spread the knowledge that because of the energy, the initiative and great ability of its people, it needs no Federal or other outside counsel. The South is entirely capable of managing this and all other crises that may arise within its borders, but it does not yet fully realize the fact and it does not yet grasp the value of constructive publicity to teach that fact to the nation and the world.Some weeks have gone by since the committee appointed by President Coolidge to aid the South first reported that ample funds were available for financing a withdrawal from the market of 25 per cent of the cotton crop. Had some great Southern leader, some recognized spokesman, active in a Southwide effort to alleviate the situation, replied that Southern men were entirely able to administer the available funds in the retirement of 4,000,000 bales, and that, therefore, President Coolidge's kindly offer of assistance through a committee of Northern men—not one of whom personally knew anything about cotton—was as wholly unnecessary as it was graciously appreciated, the South would have been measurably aroused and the rest of the nation similarly enlightened. But no such spokesman appeared. Nor has such a one yet appeared. Neither has there been anything like the concerted action by all the cotton states that would be necessary to elevate one man to such a position. Men equal to the task are not lacking, but the South is not yet thinking of itself as a unit and no committee has been appointed from all the cotton states to deal with the situation.
Neither have Southern newspapers
as a whole lived up to their opportunity. They could have told the South and the world that the Southwas abundantly able to help itself.
They still can.
But the South still thinks of itself as a group of unrelated states.
Largely through this attitude the cotton states are losing a priceless opportunity. For them to stand together in a successful effort to control the price of this year's crop and to restrict future years' crops would be worth several hundred million dollars annually in cold cash, but it would be worth yet more through increased self-respect and the enlightened attitude of other sections. To say it would help to keep at home thousands of capable young men who annually seek opportunity outside the South, and in addition would draw some of the same class from other sections, is to mention only one detail in the great general result.
It is in crises that the true mettle of men is revealed. A people who cannot rise to such a crisis as this one can never be great, and the world will feel confirmed in its poor opinion of it.Furthermore, a people who will not meet a crisis does not deserve outside help—is not worth helping.
"No people deserves prosperity
unless it is willing to work for it and uses some intelligence in so doing. There is not a county in the whole South today but can organize its own credit associations and obtain all the money needed to carry surplus cotton over for another year. There isn't a county in which this task could not be accomplished also by its local banks.
The financial institutions of the South, making use of the Interstate Credit banks, can give a demonstration this winter so convincing that the world would never again even dream of thinking that a surplus cotton crop meant the dumping of excess production on the market. It is possible now to do something that will revive the morale of the whole South and mean the opening of a new epoch from one end of the South to the other," says one prominent South-erner in a letter to the Manufacturers Record.It is not too late. The South can still seize the priceless opportunity.

KNOW TEXAS.

The total value of livestock in Texas is more than $200,000,000.
This state stands first in the number of head cattle produced.Figs are among the oldest Texas fruit products. Texas fig orchards will produce in excess of four thousand pounds of fruit to the acre the third year after producing.The pecan crop of Texas is worth almost a million dollars a year. It is estimated that there are ten million pecan trees along Texas streams. According to the survey recently completed in Navarro county there is much land here that is especially adapted to the raising of pecans with many native pecan trees which with a little budding would make this county one of the largest pecan producers in the state. Pecans in large quantities are now marketed in this county but the output could be greatly increased with the proper attention given. The pecan crop is a money crop and should not be overlooked by the farmer.The rice crop in Texas is in excess of 5,000,000 bushels a year.
Texas is the leading state in production of Bermuda onions with about two million bushels a year.

ON BEING BUSY

Americans are said to be a busy people. The hurrying crowds of city streets are unique in this country; those who tread foreign streets
do so in more leisurely fashion.
Yet it is an English writer who observes anxiously, "There are people in the world of whom it may be truly said that they never rest."
Who never read and never think, but who spend their time in moving from place to place and in talking." Is it of English folk that he speaks. The description fits accurately near at home.Certainly, restlessness becomes a habit, and there are no people more restless than Americans. As Mr.
Young, the English writer goes on to state, some persons continually insist that they will go to this place and that "for a rest," and strive feverishly to that end; only to find themselves looking forward from this place to another quite as unsatisfactory.So follow the mad cures, the thought healing, the self-analysis, to which those people find plenty of time to devote.The cause of this sort of national "businessness" apparently lies in a lack of individual goal. Life is lived not as a unit, but as a day to day affair. A worthwhile life cannot be lived without reflection.
Mind cures may or may not make opportunities for this a possibility chairman, in connection with this work in the county. An active campaign for funds will be launched at once.The Children's Founders Roll of the Stone Mountain Memorial is a plan whereby the boys and girls of the South may have an important and distinctive part among the builders of the world's greatest monument.It is composed of children up to eighteen years of age who contribute one dollar to the cost of the work, and is open to all within the age limit who are descended from Confederate soldiers.Each child contributing one dollar receives a beautiful bronze medal designed by the sculptor, Medi-cus Lukeman. On the front of the medal is a miniature reproduction of the grand stairway of the magnificent Memorial Hall, to be quarried out of the breast of Stone Mountain immediately underneath the central group of sculpture. On the reverse side of the medal is a miniature reproduction of the figures of Jefferson Davis, Robert E.

Lee, and Stonewall Jackson, which are now being carved on the moun-is a perforated slot, so that it can be worn as a watch fob or locket.In addition to this very interesting token of membership in the Children's Founders Roll, the name of each child will be recorded in a great Book of Memory, which will be deposited upon an altar or within a vault especially provided for that purpose in Memorial Hall.

Each name will be recorded upon a separate line, and with it will be recorded the address of the child and the name of the Confederate soldier in whose memory the child's dollar was contributed. The child

TARLETON COLLEGEJohn Tarleton Agricultural College at Stephenville is a branch of
A. & M. and is a model of its kind.
It is not only an ideal institution for the pursuit of an education, but it is a college which gives to its students an opportunity to form friendships which will endure throughout life and which will foster a spirit of loyalty not only to the college and to each other but also to that spirit of Americanism which will ever be an incentive toward their best efforts, says a report from the school."The Spirit of Tarleton" is one of the biggest factors which has caused Tarleton's phenomenal growth. It is that dynamic magnetism—that unity of thought, ideal and purpose—which seems to pervade the very soul of every person who is connected with Tarleton, either as a faculty member or as a student. It is that motivating effervescence which causes the entire student body and faculty to rise as one man and sing "On Ye Tarleton" or to stand at rigid attention when Old Glory is lowered at sunset. It is that contagious devotion to Tarleton which quickens every heartbeat as the last echo of a bugle call dies in the distance.That this spirit does not die is evidenced by the enthusiastic extensions of Tarleton who have centered to various parts of the State and who by their loyalty, unceasing and untiring efforts have carried the banner of Tarleton, imprinted in the Tarleton ideals of real manhood and womanhood, into new fields and have sent hundreds of new students back to what they call the "greatest school on earth."
Students from Corsicana at Tarleton this year are Chester Barnes and Will Talbot Hurtt. These young men are both making good records and are a credit to their home town.

LABEL SUIT WILL NOT INTERFERE IN COMMITTEE'S PLANS

PROBE OF STATE DEPARTMENT TO CONTINUE DESPITE FERGUSON ACTION

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Nov. 8.—Intensity of the investigations of state departments by a House committee of nine will not be lessened by the filing Thursday in Bell county of a $100,000 label suit against the Dallas News by James E. Ferguson, says Richard Critz, committee attorney.

The suit grew out of the testimony given before the committee by J. D. Winder, road contractor. The action cites as cause of the action the News' report of the testimony, carried under the headline, "Ferguson demanded ten per cent on bid, says contractor."

Mr. Ferguson issued a vigorous denial of Winder's testimony, as soon as it was called to his attention.

"The filing of the suit will not bother the committee or the attorney," Critz said. He conferred with Harry Graves, of Georgetown, and George Christian, assistant attorney general, other committee attorneys.

Leo Satterwhite, speaker of the House, and Chairman of the investigating committee, is in Amarillo, when the committee will resume its work after a week's recess.

Appointment of the committee was authorized by the House of the 39th Legislature in its recent special session. In the debate preceding passing of the resolution, Ferguson supporters contended such a committee could not legally function after adjournment of the called session.

Ferguson's suit contends the committee has no legal standing and that its proceedings, therefore, are not privileged for publication.

SUGAR REFINERY WILL USE COTTON BAGS-SACK OUTPUT

In an effort to increase the demand for cotton products the Imperial Sugar Company of Sugarland, Texas, have given their unqualified support to the Sugarland Chamber by substituting cotton bags for burlap, by purchasing cotton bags that will require 2,500 bales of cotton and by asking their customers to specify these bags on their sugar orders.

This should draw the attention of jobbers, manufacturers and others as an example to increase the popularity of cotton goods. This example is followed by other concerns it will go a long way to make cotton growing more profitable and not a losing game as it has proven this year. It is pointed out.

In Memory of Our Darling Edna Lee

Edna Lee Dunagan fell asleep in Jesus on Wednesday morning, June 9, 1926. The writer was with her when she came. She died the death of the righteous. Her body was laid to rest in the Prairie Grove cemetery at Emmett, Thursday evening, June 10. She was converted at the age of 12 years at which time she united with the Missionary Baptist church in which she lived a few years. The home has lost a good daughter and sister, the community a good friend, and the church one of her most faithful members, and Oh, how we miss her, but our loss is heaven's gain.

Edna Lee was loved by all who knew her. In school she won the admiration of both large and small and the teachers spoke of her as being an obedient and attractive pupil. She was always willing to do her part, even in school. Likewise she was willing to suffer her share, for she knew it was for her sins that Christ was crucified.

I feel that none other can miss her as I do, but I know her heart grieved parents miss her most of all. She was always a faithful friend and cousin. Our secrets were told to one another and on her deathbed she wished to talk with me, but unfortunately could not. I will always regret that I could not be with her throughout her illness and could have told her how faithful she had been. I cannot realize she is dead, but only sleeping.

Beyond the stars, we'll meet again. On heaven's golden shore.

With our loved one we shall enter in.

Where parting comes no more.

Not dead, but sleeping for awhile. Till sounds the trumpet call. Not dead, but resting in the simile Of Christ, the Lord of all.

No death can reach the soul that sleeps.

She'll live again some day. Tho' loved ones o'er her body weep in heaven she shall stay.

We can not bring our loved one back.

But we can go to her. By keeping on the heavenward track.

And walking close to Him.

Look up, sad hearts; be strong and brave.

He doeth all things well. In that best realm beyond the grave.

With our loved one we may dwell. Her soul and consoling.

ATHALEE DUNAGAN.

Card of Thanks.

We do not possess words to express our heartfelt appreciation to our many friends for their consideration shown us in our loss of the greatest treasure we ever had, or shall ever possess—wife and mother. We think one and all for every service rendered, every consoling word spoken, every deed performed, and for the beautiful flowers given. It does not heal our sore, grief-stricken hearts, but it helps much and is greatly appreciated.

500 BARRELER REPORTED IN RICHLAND FIELD

Flowing 500 barrels a day the Sun Company, Swink well No. 2-A, came in Friday night in the Richland field at a 2,990 foot depth, according to information Saturday. A rumor was reported that the well came in at a rate of 2,000 barrels a day, but slowed down to an average of 500 barrels. It is an offset to the Gulf Production Company well No. 1 on the Hillburn farm. The well has been connected with the Humble Pipe Line Company who is caring for the oil. This offset is to the west of the field and has never been considered very good prospects for a well.

STATED COOLIDGE BELIEVES SOME PLAN OF RELIEF FEASIBLE

By Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 6.—Studies during the past few days have convinced President Coolidge that some relief for individual and corporation tax payers, in the form of rebates or refunds of ten to twelve per cent on the 1926 payments may be feasible.

Although he believes that it will not be possible for the December session of Congress to revise the present revenue laws, he let it be known yesterday that he believes that conditions are developing which would warrant the granting of temporary rebates.

The treasury surplus this year, it was said at the White House, will approximate $250,000,000 and a refund of 10 to 12 per cent would mean the return of between $200,000,000 and $250,000,000 to the tax payers.

Receipts in excess of the estimates of the treasury would make the rebate possible, but at the treasury the White House announcement was viewed with surprise, as Secretary Mellon and other fiscal officers have held repeatedly that the present was too early for tax reduction to be considered seriously. In June the treasury estimated that the surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30 next would be $185,000,000, but many signs since have pointed to a larger surplus, and Democratic leaders, including Senator Simmons of North Carolina, tax legislation spokesman for that party, have demanded an immediate tax reduction running as high as $500,000,000 in some instances.

NAVARRO COUNTY CONVICT PARDONED BECAUSE OF ILLNESS

By Associated Press. Austin, Nov. 6.—Eleven full pardons and one restoration of citizenship were announced Friday by Governor Ferguson. This brings the total of amnesty proclamations up to 2,544 since Mrs. Ferguson became governor.

Among full pardons granted Friday was that of Homer Collins, Navarero county, thief, five years. Served more than three. Has pulmonary tuberculosis with "practically no chance for recovery." Recommended by Board of Pardon Advisers and many Harris county citizens.

Homer Collins plead guilty to theft of an automobile before District Judge Hawkins Scarborough Oct. 25, 1923, and the jury returned a verdict of guilty and assessed his punishment at confinement in the State penitentiary for a period of five years. Judge Scarborough pronounced sentence the same day. The sentence imposed in this court ran concurrently with that imposed in the district court of Harris county.

PRO AGENTS RAID COOK COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE; FIND BOOZE

THREE EMPLOYEES OF OFFICE ALLEGED TO HAVE SOLD LIQUOR

By Associated Press. Chicago, Nov. 6.—Just as three hundred employees of the Cook county clerk were locking their desks in the city hall building at noon today, a dozen federal prohibition agents entered the offices, found twelve pints of whiskey in the lockers and arrested three employees.

The liquor was found in the lockers of Anthony McVady and George Hefferkamp, clerks in the office, and William Dessow, a clerk for the board of local improvements. Federal agent Dan Barcaroli said he had purchased liquor from all three men, and declared the government had evidence that the trio was purveying liquor to fellow employees.

The agents went through every locker in the big room where the employees work, and announced that a search of every room in the county clerk's office would ensue. Girl employees climbed on lockers to watch the search, and agents barred the doors, refusing egress to any employee until the quest was completed.

Robert M. Sweltzer, county clerk, confined himself in his private office and declined to make any comment on the discoveries.

MOTHER ATTACKED BUT FREES SELF AND CALLS OFFICERS

By The Associated Press. Caruthersville, Mo., Nov. 6.—When a liquor-crazed man attempted to attack Mrs. Joseph Mounts last night she fled her home screaming for aid and left her baby daughter, three years old, in bed. When she returned with an officer the baby, its neck seriously strangled with a knife, was being tossed into the air by A. B. Perry, Jr.

Mrs. Mounts was at home alone with her baby about 10 o'clock when Perry is said to have entered armed with a knife and revolver and attempted to attack the young mother. She fought free, she said, and ran to blocks to the county jail where she found Sheriff J. A. Smith.

When the mother and sheriff entered the house they found Perry tossing the blood-covered body of the little girl about the room in a drunken frenzy. Doctors say the child has slight chance of recovery.

Perry was overpowered and taken to jail. When told of his crime today he tried to cut his throat with a safety razor blade. The wound required sixteen stitches, and he is in a serious condition.

ANOTHER DAMAGE SUIT FILED RESULT HOUSE INVESTIGATION

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Nov. 6.—Eugene T. Smith, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission filed suit today against the American Publishing Company of Austin for $100,000 damages. The suit was filed in District Court for Smith by his attorney, A. L. Curtis of Belton.

Smith asks for $50,000 actual and $50,000 exemplary damages based on appearance of an article in the Austin Statesman on October 18, concerning testimony given before the House investigating committee by W. G. Hill, public accountant of Austin, which Smith claims is defamatory, and damaging to his character and reputation.

The action against the American is the second $100,000 damage suit growing out of testimony given before the investigating committee. Former Governor James E. Ferguson previously entered suit at Belton against the Dallas News. Smith's petition claims that the House investigating committee is without official standing, that its power and authority ended with the adjournment of the special session of the 39th Legislature and that the proceedings of such committee are not privileged under the statutes of Texas relating to privileged publications.

ITALIAN DICTATOR HOLDS SEVEN OUT OF THIRTEEN POSITIONS

By Associated Press. Rome, Nov. 6.—Benito Mussolini today held seven of the cabinet's thirteen portfolios and was in exclusive personal control of a newly created formidable mechanism for the protection of the Fascist regime against all attacks, conspiracies and insults of its enemies. So far as offenses against the government or its leader are concerned, the country was virtually under martial law today.

Mussolini possesses the powers of a commander in chief of the army in time of war. New courts for trial of crimes against the regime and special political police force intended to watch for plots here and abroad are both controlled by the Fascist militia. Mussolini is doubly in command, as minister of the interior and commander of the militia.

Having added the ministry of the interior to his already enormous responsibilities, the Premier, more deeply entrenched in power than ever before, called upon his cohorts to support him in carrying out to effect two of his favorite maxims—"Two eyes for one eye and for one tooth an entire set of teeth," and "the best way to defend is to attack."

Holds Many Positions. In addition to being commander in chief of the militia, Mussolini now is Premier, foreign minister, minister of interior, minister of war, minister of marine, minister of aviation and minister of labor. The national council has approved all the drastic measures which the cabinet, sitting under the presidency of Mussolini, requested. These will now go to the chamber of deputies, specially convened next Tuesday.

They include death for attempts to injure or molest the Premier or members of the royal family by word or deed, or to conspire against the regime; heavy penalties for direct or indirect opposition; the creation of political police to watch the activities of anti-Fascists at home or abroad; and suspension of licenses of all anti-Fascist newspapers and periodicals.

Only the establishment of a retroactive death penalty for those responsible for previous attempts against the life of Mussolini failed of enactment by the Grand Council. It is understood that Minister of Justice Rocco insisted that approval would be at variance with all the legal traditions of Italy.

COTTON COMMISSION DECIDES TO "LIFT" 4,000,000 BALES

By the Associated Press. New York, Nov. 6.—The New York Evening Post today says that on the ground that "it is time for the South to stop giving its cotton away," President Coolidge cotton commission has decided to "lift" 4,000,000 bales, this year's estimated surplus, from the market.

This surplus will be stored for 18 months of such time as may be necessary and cotton acreage next year will be reduced 25 percent so that the surplus may then be put on the market at prices to the grower.

STATE HOME LADS TIED TEAGUE IN CONTEST FRIDAY

Teague, Texas, Nov. 6.—The State Orphans' Home lads tied Teague High School eleven here Friday afternoon in a hotly contested affair. Teague had the ball in scoring position several times but the famous fighting line and backs of the Corsicana team held them when their goal was endangered, according to their traditions and Teague was unable to muster the punch to carry over the ball.

Teague was accorded an edge by critics before the game and were doped to win.

ANDREWS ASKING MORE LAWS TO HELP ENFORCE PRESENT LAW

COAST GUARD SELL OUT AND DISCHARGE OF THREE AGENTS ALSO ASSERTED

By Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 6.—Prohibition popped into the limelight again today in the nation's capital. While Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of enforcement, was denying that the Coast Guard had "sold out" to the bootleggers and was making known his determination to seek legislation next month giving the government greater control over medicinal liquor, it was revealed that the chief of the prohibition machinery in and around the District of Columbia and three of his agents had been dismissed for conduct "distinctly unbecoming to Federal officers" when they held up a drawn revolver on an automobile containing an unidentified but reported prominent government official.

Reports that the coast guard forces had decamped to the liquor law violators were laid by General Andrews to "bootleggers who need an advertising for their home-made foreign liquor." While not referring specifically to the latest instance, that in Boston where four coast guard men are held for aiding occupants of the rum row, General Andrews conceded that there had been some defections, but that the organization under Rear Admiral E. C. Billard, merited praise for its activities.

Andrews Wants More Laws. General Andrews said that he would again urge Congress at the next session to pass the prohibition enforcement reorganization measure and the bill to strengthen the Volstead Act, but that the only new measure he will propose would give the government greater control over the rapidly vanishing supply of medicinal liquor.

Dismissed agents were Robert L. Livingston, deputy prohibition administrator for the District and Agents J. Carter, James Cook and John Fitzpatrick.

"Agents may not rush about the city streets and county roads holding up automobiles without the slightest cause, using drawn revolvers and talking abusively to occupants of the automobiles they stop," said General Andrews in connection with the dismissals.

"Such conduct is not becoming to a Federal officer and must be stopped."

CHARGES MADE IN RECENT PLOT FORM STATE OF CATALAN

By Associated Press. Paris, Nov. 6.—Public Interest was intense today in charges that Italians were seeking to create a division between Spain and France, because of the operations on French soil of conspirators who tried to set up "the State of Catalan" in Spain.

Minister of Justice Sarraut, said evidence has been obtained to justify the belief that there is a connection between the Catalan affair and the activities of Colonel Ric-iotti Garibaldi, grandson of the Italian liberator at Nice.

Garibaldi, working with other Italians, it is asserted, planned to betray the Spanish Colonel Francis Macia, leader of the Catalans, and his followers, to the Spanish police, and thus pave the way for Spain to declare that France was lax in allowing a conspiracy to be hatched on French soil.

Some 125 arrests on the border by the French broke up the conspiracy.

Rome advises characterize as absurd the belief held in France that Italian police agents were implicated in the plot. The advisers say that the Fascist regime is in sympathy with the Spanish government and that Rome gave it the first notice that the plot was brewing.

Garibaldi is declared by leading Anti-Fascists of Nice to be a traitor to their cause.

Say Italian Police Furnish Cash. Garibaldi, who was brought to Paris from Nice for examination, is being held as a guest of the police. He has admitted receiving 100,000 francs from an Italian police official.

Col. Macia has told the police he financed the expedition partly with his personal fortune and partly with money provided by Catalans in South America. The Italians who joined the movement brought nothing for the treasury, he said. The French police insist the Italians had ample funds.

There is a certain amount of mild indignation that France's national right as an asylum for political exiles should be abused and the country used by political plotters and counter-plotters.

French papers insist Italy's purpose is to strengthen its hand in Mediterranean affairs and at the same time keep up Fascist influence at home.

HI JOHNSON SEES SHADOW OLD WORLD DICTATOR IN U. S.

By Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 6.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California is one of those who sees the shadow of a potential old-world dictator looming over Washington as a result of the recent Supreme Court decision in the Myers postmaster case.

He said today that in holding the President could remove Postmaster Myers, at Portland, Ore., and other federal appointees without consulting the Senate, the court had put uncontrolled and uncontrollable power into the hands of enough or partisan enough to employ it, and he added that if such power ever fell into the grasp of a political Warwick, the result would be "a sad disaster."

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 6.—Selecting a town where there were no Marine or guards, three men yesterday stole a registered mail pouch, kidnapped a railway mail clerk, drove more than 200 miles, and netted $5 for their trouble.

The robbery, started at Hibbing, in Northern Minnesota, was as bold in daylight holdup as ever was attempted in the State, and was successful in all respects, except for the profits.

It occurred on a principal street, just before noon, within sight of several workmen, who were not impressed because they thought it was a "scene being shot for the movies."

STRENGTH OF LAST TWO CONFEDERATE GENERALS IS EBBING AS MEMORIES LINGER

By Associated Press:

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 8.—Infirmities of age have weakened the flesh but not the mind of the last two surviving generals who held commissions in the Confederate army. Sixty-one years ago, a battle worn officer rode up to headquarters of General Kilpatrick, Union commander at Macon, Ga. A group of young Union army officers observed with some astonishment the figure in grey.

Robertson's Last Stand
"It's Felix," exclaimed one. There was a rush toward the Confederate, with much handshaking and warm greetings. He was General Felix Huston Robertson.

It was the end of the Civil war. The general, having disbanded his command, had come formally to surrender, and had fallen into the hands of his former West Point classmates. The comrades of school days made up a fund of $180 in gold for their enemy officer, who possessed nothing but a saddle bag full of worthless Confederate money, and with this gift sent him on his way.

McCausland Didn't Surrender
Shortly before this incident, in a Virginian camp Fitzhugh Lee dashed by shouting "Little Bobby has surrendered." A Confederate leader turned to General Mulford, whose command was next to his.

"Let's get out of here," he said, and they did, making their way to Lynchburg, Va., where they disbanded their forces.

The general who evaded surrender was John McCausland.

Now, the two generals are spending the closing years of their lives in the retirement of their homes, with memories of the historic past to beguile their days. General Robertson, at the age of 86, lives at Waco, Texas, and General McCausland, 90 years old, on a farm near Charleston, W. B.

Still Undaunted By Blue.
A few days ago in Dallas General Robertson was hobbling across the street when he was stopped by a traffic policeman, who told him he would have to turn back as the signal was against him.

"Young fellow," said the old one, "I never surrendered to a blue uniform but once, and I never turned back in the middle of the battle." The policeman recognized a familiar face, saw the Confederate veteran's button and let him pass.

Occasionally General Robertson dips into the modern world when he visits his son, Judge Felix D. Robertson in Dallas. He has two daughters, Mrs. Julia Cleveland of San Antonio and Mrs. John E. Smith of North Lancaster, Indiana.

Born the son of a soldier, March 9, 1840, at Washington, the old capital of Texas, Robertson was appointed to West Point by Gen. Sam Houston in 1857. He was a classmate of General Custer. He would have been graduated in June, 1861, but the incident at Fort Sumpter in April, 1861, intervened. Young Robertson, who was a friend of Jefferson Davis, resigned at once, went to Richmond, was appointed a lieutenant of artillery, and assigned to General Beauregard's army.

Was Obstacle To Sherman

The battle of Shiloh found him a captain under Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston and from then on he was in every battle fought by the Army of Tennessee. He rose until he became brigadier general in Wheeler's cavalry.

When Sherman marched to the sea he found a stubborn obstacle at every foot of the way. It was General Robertson and his men, who contended every inch of the ground. At the battle of Peach Tree Creek, General Robertson formed what then seemed a miracle. He stopped an infantry advance with artillery.

He was wounded in the left arm at Buckhead church, Georgia, just before the end of the war. A few weeks previous, he was appointed a major general, but the commission was captured by Federal troops. He was the youngest general in either army. When the end came, he disbanded his men, and rode two days to surrender to General Kilpatrick.

McCausland Lives On Farm

General McCausland's home for many years has been the stone mansion, fortress-like in its solidity, which he built in the midst of the broad Kanawha Valley acres, about 40 miles from Charleston, and which he developed into productive farm land. A daughter keeps his home, and his three sons live nearby on their portions of the farm property.

By a twist of fortune, the memories of General McCausland center mainly around two cities, one of which hailed him as its savior; the other charging him as its destroyer.

Career A Tale Of Two Cities

Chief among his treasures is a sword engraved "The citizens of Lynchburg to General John McCausland, June 18, 1864."

The date is that on which, exactly a month after he was commissioned a brigadier general to command the Jenkins cavalry, whose leader fell in battle, McCausland stopped the advance of Hunter's Virginia raid and gave his superior, General Jubal Early, time to occupy Lynchburg and turn Hunter back.

Of Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, the general is less inclined to talk. It was at his command that the torch was set to Chambersburg, July 3, 1864, when its residents decimated to a demand for $100,000 in gold. Letters from General Early and from President Grant in later years, justified General McCausland but feeling after the war was so bitter that for two years he wandered through Canada, England, France and Mexico virtually an exile.

Sought Reprisal For Fire

For the Confederate leader the drive into Pennsylvania was a fight for his alma mater, Virginia Military Institute, where after graduation in 1857 he was assistant professor of mathematics at the outbreak of the war. The institute was partly wrecked by fire in the Hunter raid, as recompense for which the tribute was demanded of Chambersburg.

COL. C. L. WATSON OF MEXIA SUCCUMBS AFTER LONG ILLNESS

FATHER OF MRS. J. W. DAVID
OF CORSICANA BURIED
THURSDAY

Special to the Sun.
Mexia, Nov. 5.—Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Colonel C. L. Watson, 87, who died in his home on East Carthage street, this city, early Wednesday night. Following the services in the home, interment took place in the Mexia cemetery. The Rev. Phillips of Point Enterprise officiated.

Colonel Watson had been in feeble health for some time, and although a wave of profound sorrow swept through the community there was no surprise at his death. Survivors include his wife and eight children. Of the nine children, only one preceded the father to the grave. She was Miss Mattie Watson, daughter of the late Joe Johnson Camp of Confederate Veterans, of which Colonel Watson was in recent years commander. Miss Watson died only about four months ago.

The children include, Mrs. J. W. David, Corsicana; Mrs. C. L. Wells, Hubbard City; Dr. Charles and Dr. H. C. Watson of Waco; John T. Watson, Houston; Dr. James Watson, Tax, Watson and Ernest Watson, of Mexia, the latter mayor of Mexia in 1923-25.

Born in Tennessee.

Deceased was born in Tennessee 86 years ago. He moved to Texas when but a youth, settling in Fairfield, Freestone county, in 1852. He served with distinction in the Confederacy and was in the service in the South under Roger Q. Mills. Throughout his long and active life he exhibited unswerving devotion to duty, giving high place to his country. He fought bravely for the South in the war between the States and since then has been loyal and faithful in every crisis of his country. Throughout the years since the Sixties, he has been true to revered memories of the Old South, at the same time bucking on the armor and shield of justice, truth and patriotism when the call for patriots sounded. The occasion of the gathering together of the thinning line of Confederate soldiers in annual reunion at the auspices of the Lee Johnston Camp was a date in his life to which he looked forward with unfaded joy. He served the Camp as its commander in recent years and seldom, if ever, missed the reunion at the Camp grounds seven miles south of Mexia.

Heroes of the Confederacy were ever dear to him. Never did he hear the names of Lee and Jackson, Johnston, Cleburne and others without a tremor of interest stirring his very soul.

For the past year he has been in feeble health and seldom left his own hearthstone. During the past few weeks it has become apparent that the end was near. With his departure, only a few of his former companions in gray remain to sound taps above his remains. These, large numbers of friends and his beloved companion of a life of strenuous sacrifices, struggles and successes, six sons and two daughters with their families mourn his final summons.

In 1883 the Watsons moved from Fairfield to Mexia, where for many years he engaged in the mercantile business. About twenty-five years ago he retired from this business and devoted the remaining days to his farms, being forced to withdraw from other affairs as the years advanced.

He always, however, took much interest in affairs political and was a staunch admirer of Jim Hogg and William Jennings Bryan. Honorary pallbearers were: A. H. Berry, M. V. Anderson, C. A. Kennedy, Colonel A. E. Humphreys, Frank Cox, Tom Griffith, Judge W. M. White, Julius Nussbaum, Julius Densberger, Dr. T. E. Oates, Mayor J. Sanford Smith, Ab. Waller, L. W. Finch, John H. Corley, Jack Womack, Dr. D. H. Bessett, J. W. Clark, W. D. Freeman, W. J. Hyster, T. W. Broadman, J. A. Cantz, W. J. Bryant, W. B. Jackson, W. H. Wells, John H. Sweet, A. M. Stevens, J. B. Best, C. ### BERLIN

German City Has Erected Beautiful Monument to Scraggly Pig.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—The city of Lauenburg has erected a beautiful monument to a lean, scraggly pig. The memorial, a bronze reproduction of the now famous animal, was put up out of gratitude for the great increase in the city's wealth, growing out of a discovery made by the pig.

About 5 years ago the owner of the porker noticed its peculiar pranks in the grazing yard. He investigated and found it licking a deposit of salt. The deposit has since been exploited and is one of the richest table salt mines in Germany.

Antiquated Regulations Hamper Police.

The police of Berlin are materially hampered in their adoption of modern methods by innumerable antiquated regulations in force, evidently because no one has ever thought of rescinding them.

According to the published statement of the Prussian under secretary of state, Dr. Abegg, the police code contains many thousands of these out of date ordinances.

One of the oldest, from the year 1753, decrees that church bells are to ring only in three stipulated periods within a certain hour. The order of 1811 prohibits "the extortion of tips by farm hands from passing travelers," which seems to have been the custom at that time. Still another prescribes exactly how the eggs of ants should be collected. Then there are regulations prohibiting dancing lessons on Sundays, and the preparation of artificial coffee.

Grotesque seems an injunction of 1880 barring pickpockets and other thieves from public markets without a special license from police and even then compelling them to their shopping only under police supervision.

Still another precept of 1892 prescribes for all waitresses dresses closed at the neck with skirts down to the ankle.

Retired Minister True to Tradition

Karl Severing, retired Prussian minister of the interior, was one of the few socialist government officials who during his whole term of office remained true to traditions in the matter of dress. Herr Severing never owned a dress suit or even a dinner jacket, a convention which most of his comrades since the revolution accepted as a matter of course. He devoted himself to his office with a singleness of purpose for which even the bitterly hostile press gave him unstinted praise. Though a magnificent official residence was set aside for him on Unter den Linden, Severing kept his family at Bielefeld, in the Ruhr Valley, during his 7 years as minister and virtually lived in his office in the ministry of the interior.

Once Rich German Prince Poor.

Once among the richest of ruling German princes, Leopold, last of a distinguished line of royal governors of the principality of Lippe Detmold, is virtually penniless. After the republican State of Prussia recently granted him relief from poor rates, so that he could fill suit for payment of a debt without cost, it was revealed that Prince Leopold did not have the $500 cash security required by German law to cover court expenses.

The suit has been brought against a Dr. Thyssen to whom Leopold alleges he sold a parcel of land five years ago for $50,000 and never received payment. Leopold is land poor. His settlement with the State after his abdication during the revolution in 1918 netted him 9,000 acres of land and his beautiful castle. He has been unable to find buyers for more of the land since Dr. Thyssen, who is not related to the industrialist Thyssen fame, bought several thousand acres.

A Boon to Musicians.

A Berlin inventor claims to have solved the problem of turning the pages of a musical selection, an operation which always has bothered members of bands and orchestras. The invention consists of a lever operated with the foot. The lever is attached to the music stand in such a manner that stepping on it, the page is turned.

PARIS

Noisless Automobile Horns
Cause Police Committee
to Flee.

Paris, Nov. 6.—The terrific din made by so-called "noisless" automobile horns which probably will replace the squawking type now in use in Paris, caused a special police committee attending a demonstration of them to clap their hands to their ears and flee the scene.

Salesmen representing numerous firms desirous of supplying the automobile trade, presented several scores of their "silent" samples. In the effort to prove how noiseless they were, however, they loaded the horns so vigorously and constantly that the police had to beg for mercy and fled into the building.

The Paris police authorities recently appointed a committee to investigate and select a standard type of horn less noisy than the ones which make the Paris streets so hideously blatant. This was the committee's first meeting with the trade. The next one has not been scheduled, the committee desiring to wait until its nerves have quieted.

Man Gives Up Much Blood.

The world's record for blood transfusion by one person is credited to Raymond Brizex. He has just submitted to the operation for the hundredth time. Since November, 1924, Brizex has given 5-12 gallons of his blood for suffering human beings, without recompense of any kind except the satisfaction of having done a good deed.

Brizex is only 29 years old and devoted to outdoor sports. He entered upon his career as a big game hunter by accident. While visiting a sick friend, he heard the doctor say that the only hope of recovery was in blood transfusion. Immediately he offered himself. Brizex is so strong and healthy that the operation has little effect on him. He continues work in his office as usual before and after each transfusion operation.

American Composer Hailed Master

George Antheil, the 26 year old American composer, is hailed as a master by French critics, who found the second performance of his symphony in F had more than confirmed the impression made by the first hearing. The composer and Vladimir Golschmann, were given an ovation of an intensity rarely heard in a French concert. Antheil, especially to a foreign artist, written in Neo-classic style and with what some term a rather dry technique, the symphony displays a wealth of dramatic power and vigor. Not having the stores of German folk tunes that Beethoven and Mozart had to draw upon, Antheil sought his themes in the scraps of music in his mind, dating back to childhood. These included the popular sentimental songs of the 1910 period, the rag time that came later and fragments of symphonies heard at concerts. Welded into a composite new form, the work moves on in direct and logical progression to an imposing climax. The musical critic of Le Temps concludes his eulogy of the composition by saying, "we must hail in George Antheil a thoroughbred musician whose work does him honor to the young American school."

Red Deer Furnishing Sport.

The red deer of old England are finding their way to Biarritz to make sport for the cosmopolitan society of this South of France resort.

Riding to hounds has always been popular with the wealthy residents here, but in the past has been largely confined to fox hunting. Now stag hunting has come into vogue, but not enough deer are available in France and importation is being resorted to. The stags, brought from the famous deer parks of England and Scotland, are offered to the hunt in fields in prosaic moving van, and given every sporting chance to escape.

At the opening hunt of the season a most fashionable following gathered for the ceremony of blessing the hounds at the church of St. Euzene, on the outskirts of Biarritz.

LONDON

Ghostly Hounds of Herne, Heard by Woman and Daughter of Windsor

London, Nov. 6.—The ghostly hounds of Herne, the hunter mentioned by Shakespeare in the Merry Wives of Windsor, have been "heard" by the wife and daughter of Walter Legge, of Farmhouse, Old Windsor.

Mrs. Legge declares that on two occasions she heard the clock of old Windsor Tower chime the midnight hour and immediately afterward the sound of baying hounds, as if of a pack in full cry.

On the second occasion, her daughter came into her room, she says, and asked: "Did you hear them? They must have been Herne, the Hunter's hounds." Mrs. Legge asserts that during the many years she has lived at Old Windsor she had never heard the sounds before.

Tradition has it that Herne the Hunter was a keeper in Windsor forest in the days of Queen Elizabeth. Having been disgraced he hanged himself to an oak. Herne's body is said to have been 600 years old, was blown down August 31, 1863, and a young oak was planted on the spot by Queen Victoria on September 12, 1863.

Nero Worse Than Thought.

Nero not only played a fiddle but he also was a player of the bagpipes, an instrument illustrating a very ancient use of compressed air, declared William Heavall in his presidential address to the Institution of Mechanical Engineers. The subject was "Compressed Air." Besides Nero's bagpipes, Mr. Heavall said organs with piston bellows were described by Vitruvius and Nero, while such instruments were also known to Archimedes and Plato.

The speaker also described how, before those periods, the Egyptian priests made use of compressed air to work "miracles" in their temples.

Prince Going in for Golf.

The Prince of Wales has lost some of his readiness for horseback riding and of late has fallen under the subtle fascination of golf. The Prince, at a beginner, is fond of joking about his game. He admits he cannot play golf as well as he can do the Charleston. He estimates that on any average he loses six balls a day. He loves to hit at the ball, and has yet to keep his drives under control.

At Sandringham the prince, after one round, enjoyed a twenty-minute light luncheon and was on the tee again. Wales' friends are fond of pointing out the fact that the heir to the throne never permits himself to hold up couples while he and his lady search for a ball he has played off in the rough.

Shaw's Name Smaller.

George Bernard Shaw's name, which glared in letters two feet high in front of one of London's largest music halls showing one of his plays has been reduced in size at the author's request. The letters now are smaller than those of the stars actually appearing there.

The play is "The Showing Up of Blanco Posnet." It is being acted by Sir John and Lady Martin Harvey and a company of thirty. For years the Lord Chamberlain banned this story of a horse thief on the ground that it was blasphemous. However, after having the dedication of cultured playgoers, he retracted.

Mr. Shaw suggested that his name had been displayed so prominently that his friends might get the impression that he himself was appearing at the music hall, when as a matter of fact he was not able to find time to catch up with his writings.

Estelle Stead Is Spiritualist.

Estelle Stead, daughter of the late William T. Stead, the English journalist, at a meeting of spiritualists here, said that within the last few weeks she had seen her two dead brothers. One of the brothers died before her father, who lost his life in the steamship Titanic disaster in 1912 and the other one since. Miss Stead related how her brothers had stood before her. She said she had felt their hands and that they had kissed her. Miss Stead's father also was a spiritualist.

TEXAS COMPANY HAS FISHING JOB IN ITS CHENEYBORO WELL

CARRITA STILL DRILLING IN CHALK NORTH OF BAZETTE
SATURDAY

Fishing for ten inch joints of a drill stem slowed the drilling of the Texas Company Cheney well No. 1, Friday night south of the Powell field, it was reported at the Texas Company office Saturday morning. The drill had reached 2,622 feet when the drill stem broke and was still in the chalk. Fishing was still under way Saturday morning, it was stated.

The Transwell No. 1, drilled by the Carrita Oil and Gas Company, four miles north of Bazette and east of the Buffalo school was reported to be 2,880 feet and still in the chalk Friday night.

These two wells have attracted quite a bit of attention from major companies and have caused considerable comment from local oil men who thought that both wells had very good chances to be producers. Some still have high hopes of striking the flowing gold while others are not quite so optimistic and refuse to comment on the wells and their possibilities.

RECOVERY BODIES BURIED BY CAVEIN MAY TAKE MONTHS

WATER IN MAIN SHAFT REPORTED RECEDING RAPIDLY FRIDAY

By Associated Press.
Ighempen, Mich., Nov. 5.—The honey-combed workings of a number of abandoned iron mines today were lending a helping hand to the men engaged in the difficult work of recovering the bodies of the miners entrapped in the cave-in at the Bares-Hecker mine, here Wednesday.

The seeming impossibility of the task of ever clearing the flooded pit took on a more encouraging aspect late last night when the water which filled the shaft began receding of its own accord. Mine engineers expressed the opinion that the water had broken through to underground caverns of adjacent worked out mines.

Shortly after midnight the water in the main shaft had dropped to 400 feet from the surface and was still receding. The entire district is honey-combed with these huge caverns and officials are hopeful that the waters may be drawn off by this method in such quantities as to clear the first level where it is believed many of the 44 bodies unaccounted for may be found.

Task Is Most Difficult.

But even with this unforeseen aid the task remains a most difficult one. As the water receded it was revealed that the main shaft had been stripped of all its bracing by the rush of water and sand and was partially filled with timber and other wreckage.

Saw bracing apparatus must be constructed to prevent slides and a new elevator installed before the men can penetrate to the first level. Soundings have revealed that this level is clogged with sand and if an entry is made into it the workers must dig out any bodies that may be buried there.

This will consume weeks, or months, officials of the mine fear, but nevertheless they are going ahead with the work and have announced their determination to bring to the surface for proper burial the bodies of the victims.

A. AND M. STUDENTS ISSUE STATEMENT ON BAYLOR DIFFERENCES

SEVERANCE OR CONTINUANCE OF RELATIONS HELD MATTER INDIFFERENCE

By Associated Press.
College Station, Texas, Nov. 8.—Disposition of the question of continued athletic relations between Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College and Baylor University is "in the hands of the authorities of the college," a statement from a committee of students of A. & M. issued today said.

The announcement also indicated that "severance or continuance of athletic relations is a matter of complete indifference to us."

The committee was composed of ten members of the senior class as representatives of the student body and was made in connection with the students' fight at the Baylor football game at Waco on October 30, in which Cadet Lieutenant Charles M. Sessums of Dallas was injured fatally.

The statement reviews the feeling of regret at A. & M. over the death of Sessums and speaks of the traditions of the school for love of justice, fair dealing, honesty, and an acute love for clean sportsmanship.

Relations Reviewed.
Reviewing the relations with Baylor it says:

"Two years ago the Baylor cheering section sponsored the tour of a 'bucking Ford,' with the rear hub set eccentrically, with a sad-die oil drum perched on the back end and which in design was supposed to represent the Texas Aggies who were being ridden by the Baylor cowboy who sat in the saddle. This play was received in fun by the Cadets until the Ford, due either to poor driving or malicious intent on the part of the driver came very near injuring members of the Aggie football team as it ran through their midst while they sat or reclined along the sidelines.

"This infuriated the Cadets beyond the comprehension of any person who does not know how dearly the A. & M. man loves his football team. The memory of this is odious to A. & M. men. The idea has become traditional and other schools know this to be a fact and have respected our feeling to the extent that it has never happened again until last Saturday (October 30). Even Saturday, as an previous occasions, we suffered to see one of our military drills and our uniform, that of a reserve officer, made ridiculous by Baylor's cheer leaders without offering rebuke.

Believed Occupants Boys.
"Then came the Ford loaded with girls and a man driver, all dressed in costume. The cadets as well as campus residents and other spectators all thought that the passengers were boys for no one dreamed that men students would permit their co-eds to attempt such a dangerous undertaking."

The statement then says that an A. & M. yell leader previously had asked if Baylor intended to use the "Bucking Ford" and was told "No." The use of one one sent onto the field "was just as obnoxious in the eyes of the cadets" the statement said. Several cadets intent on switching off the ignition jumped onto the car and one girl fell off.

The A. & M. version says apologies are offered the Baylor girls "because one of our traditions is that no A. & M. man has ever willingly, or knowingly harmed a woman."

The statement denies that the cadets knowingly made an attack on girls. It charges that Baylor students were equipped before the game with clubs and sticks. Some 300 or 400 of the cadets remained in their seats during the melee at the request of their officers. When the band started "The Star Spangled Banner" the statement says, "immediately reflecting their loyalty to country and military discipline, the cadets snapped to rigid attention and saluted."

"DAVID CROCKETT WEEK" OBSERVED IN STATE OF TENNESSEE

NOTED PIONEER WAS BORN IN TENNESSEE VILLAGE IN YEAR 1786

Special to the Sun:
Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—In tribute to "Davy" Crockett, famous pioneer and hero of the Alamo, Tennessee, his native state, is to observe the week beginning today as "David Crockett Week" by proclamation of Governor Peay, upon the suggestion of the Tennessee chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

It was in the village of Limestone, on the Nolichucky River, in Eastern Tennessee, that David Crockett was born in 1786. His father, who was of Irish descent, had been a soldier of the Revolution. David's boyhood was spent in the fields and woods and his education was so entirely neglected that he could neither read nor write until his nineteenth year. At the age of 12 he became a drover, and in 1813, at the breaking out of the Creek war, he volunteered in the service, fighting bravely until its close.

In 1821 he was elected a representative in the Tennessee legislature and was again elected in 1823, attracting attention by his quaint wit and keen powers of perception. This led to his election in 1826 as a representative in the Twentieth Congress, and he was returned to the two subsequent congresses. Meanwhile he made a canvassing tour in the interest of Andrew Jackson, his former commander and personal friend, stumping the northern and eastern states and creating much amusement and interest by his eccentricities in dress and manner and his effective stories of his wild adventures.

He was a candidate for the Twenty-fourth congress in 1834, but owing to his opposition to Jackson's Indian bill, he was defeated by a small majority. His popularity while in congress was due largely to his wonderful power as an extemporaneous speaker, and his apt expressions were quoted long after their author was dead. On one occasion he turned the noise made by a flock of guinea fowls to good account during his canvass of East Tennessee by stopping in the midst of his speech and exclaiming: "Listen, gentlemen! the very fowls are hawking for Crockett, Crockett, Crockett!"

In 1834 he removed to Texas, where he espoused the cause of the Texans in their struggle for independence. In March, 1836, he joined the force of 134 men in the defense of the Alamo, and was one of the six who survived the merciless slaughter, surrendered to Santa Anna, and were shot by his orders on the same day. The date of his death was March 6, 1836.

The familiar saying, "Be sure you're right and then go ahead," was original with David Crockett.

He emblazoned this bit of homely advice on his banner when he set out to win the heart of his first love, Polly Findley, the blue-eyed Irish beauty of Limestone. Crockett at that time was barely out of his teens. Fortune favored his quest, and the two were married in 1806. In 1810 the Crocketts settled in the Beans Creek section of Tennessee. Their homestead, in a beautiful valley lying snug against the foot of dreeling mountains that embrace Hatchett's Cove, provided a happy hunting ground. Crockett's fame as a bear hunter, there in the virgin forest, grew apace. The young couple and their two girl babies were very happy. But dark clouds hovered overhead. Ere long David was called to fight the Creek Indians. Mrs. Crockett, at home, lived through dreary weeks and months of waiting. Dread of savages and of prowling wild animals undermined her health, and she died soon after her husband's return. Stricken with grief, he buried her there in the woods; and since no marble cutters were at hand, he heaped some poor slabs of stone to mark her grave.

CORSICANA HIGH SCHOOL ANNUAL CONTRACT GOES MORTON-ROBINSON CO.

The contract for the printing of the Corsicana High School annual, "The Corsican," has again been let to the Morton-Robinson Company, local commercial printers. This firm was awarded the contract over some of the largest and best known printing establishments in the state and it, no doubt, came as a result of excellent results achieved in the printing of the past school year's annual.

It is stated that the new Corsican will be patterned after the same lines of the preceding book, which was probably the most attractive number ever gotten out by the High School students, and will compare most favorably with any High School annual in this section of the country.

There is much enthusiasm among the High School students who have the work in charge for the issuing of the new annual, and it is stated that the forthcoming Corsican will

REVIVAL SERVICES OPENED ON SUNDAY BY CUMBERLANDS

REV. F. A. BROWN, ASSISTED BY REV. O. D. SPENCE, DOING PREACHING

A revival meeting started at the Cumberland Presbyterian church Sunday and is being conducted by Rev. F. A. Brown, evangelist, assisted by the pastor, Rev. O. D. Spence and Prof. Chas. H. McEwin, who has charge of the song service and musical programs.

The services are held daily, 10 a. m. and 7:15 p. m.

The revival started with the 11 o'clock service Sunday and will continue ten days or two weeks, it has been announced.

All Sunday services were well attended and the members of the church are taking much interest in the revival.

Isaiah 32-2: "And a man shall be as a hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land." was the basis of the subject "Power of Manhood," used by the evangelist Sunday night.

The evangelist declared that the defense of the nation did not rest in its armies nor the wealth of the nation in its industries but in the analysis it depended on the manhood and the integrity of the people.

He stated that Rome was a great nation but its manhood decayed and it fell, and he added that the United States would also fall if the manhood decayed.

With these statements as a preface the minister appealed for stalwart Christian lives throughout the sermon.

Mr. Edens personally sold 100 shares. In the weekly bulletin issued by the home office special mention was made of Mr. Edens excellent work and he was highly complimented.

MORE TURKEYS FOR LOCAL MARKET THIS YEAR THAN YEAR AGO

PRICES ARE NOT EXPECTED TO BE AS HIGH AS IN RECENT YEARS, STATED

According to one leading shipper the Northern and Eastern demand at high prices will not be apparent this year, it is believed, for the reason, it was stated, that the laboring and salaried men are not in circumstances to afford these luxuries and that therefore the local prices would be considerably curtailed as the present outlook appeared, especially for the Thanksgiving trade.

The movement of turkeys from the Corsicana district to the Eastern and Northern markets will begin within a short time and it is stated by those in the business of buying and shipping turkeys that the demand for turkeys this year is expected to be less than for the past several years.

It is stated by local dealers that there is about a 25 per cent increase in the turkey crop in this section over that of last year, and that the turkey supply will equal that of three years ago. The birds are reported to be in fine condition.

Return From Duck

Under the privilege extended by the American Legion, persons may leave their check at the Chamber of Commerce for first choice of seats when the reservation plan is opened next Monday morning. Those who have pre-purchased tickets to Rogers are among the first to show a desire to hear him again.

Worth More Than Asked.
M. W. Beck of the United States Soil Survey, who has heard Rogers in various parts of the United States, made this comment: "It doesn't matter what price you are asking for Rogers, he is worth more than that."

Always equal to the occasion, Rogers has been making some interesting and exqu岸itely funny observations on Texas happenings in the past few days in which he has been filling his program. According to the daily press he was the star at the Old Trail Drivers' reunion meeting in San Antonio, and has paid his respects to the governing heads at Austin.

He said that the show at the Corners' mansion compared favorably with the main offered by the College at the White House. He predicted that both Ma and Pa Johnson would run for the Senate in 1928, so that they could not be split a salary between them.

The appearance of Rogers in Corsicana in addition to being the highest event of the kind of the season, will undoubtedly mean a certain amount of publicity for the town and kind for Corsicana. Under an arrangement with some several hundred leading daily newspapers of the United States, Will Rogers' daily comments will be reprinted by telegraph under a Corsicana date line on the occasion of his visit here.

The American Legion expects considerable attendance from communities throughout Davis county. The band to lead the parade will be the local band. There is not an available auditorium of larger capacity for such a program as this because it is realized that the ticket demands will be heavy.

NEW AUTOMOBILE LEADS TO ARREST OF YOUTHFUL BLACK

By Associated Press.

Los Angeles, Nov. 5.—The flow of $74,000 from the Los Angeles Branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco was disclosed by the police here today with the arrest of Wesley Davis, 22-year-old negro janitor of the institution, and recovery of $71,895 hidden in his home.

A new automobile which Davis declared he purchased with a part of the money also was seized. The money, which was in eleven packages containing bills whose denominations ranged from $10 to $500, was found missing when the bank's vaults were checked yesterday. Questioning of all the employees with the exception of Davis, who was off duty failed to reveal any clue.

Davis was taken to the police station last night and questioned, but he denied any knowledge of the missing money. An auto, parking check found on his person led investigating authorities to an expensive new automobile. Their suspicions aroused, they took Davis to the home where he is said to have confessed.

He said he found the money in a bundle on the floor of one of the cages while cleaning out the bank Wednesday night and took it home.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 8.—Chivley, believed quite dead for a moment in the trial of the Hall-Miller murder trial, for the alleged robbery of the Powell bank July 2, 1926, to Fort Worth where he will face trial for the alleged theft of an automobile.

quired to give the name of the young woman who shared his automobile with him but he could not spell it.

"Public policy" came to the rescue of the harassed witness when the defense insisted further that "girl" be more definitely identified by the giving of her married name. The court ruled that the name she bore at the time she visited the over-populated DeRussay Lane, was sufficient.

Ehrling, plainly worried when he took the stand, was apparently near panic when Robert H. McCarter, of defense counsel, continued to press for the name of his companion.

"It was a girl," and later, "she was a woman," he said, and when Prosecutor Simpson attempted to lend a hand by suggesting to the court that there might be a valid reason for withholding the name, Ehrling eagerly seized the straw.

"She's married now," he said, "and I refuse to give her name."

"You must," ruled Justice Parker.

"Jennie Lenfort," was the mumbled reply.

McCarter pressing for the name of the husband to identify her as of today, was stopped by the court's declaration that it was "against public policy" to pursue the matter to such an extent.

Ehrling had testified that with his girl companion he was in Delussay's Lane the night of the double slaying and saw Mrs. Jane Gibson there, astride her famous mule. The time he spent in the lane was fixed by the witness at about two hours between 8:30 o'clock and 11 p. m. He heard no shots, but two automobiles passed down the lane about 30 minutes before he left.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 8.—C. Russell Gildersleeve, of Jersey City, N. J., first witness called today at the resumption of the Hall-Miller murder trial, testified that he saw the late Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, pastor of one of New Brunswick's leading churches, in New York City in 1921 with Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, choir singer in his church.

The witness said this was more than a year before the minister and Mrs. Mills were found slain on the Phillips farm near New Brunswick.

The State's purpose in calling Gildersleeve was to reinforce the previous testimony to show that the love affair between Mr. Hall and his choir singer was generally known long before the double killing, and that therefore Mrs. Hall must have known of the affair herself.
